Due to the increasing cases of HIV/AIDS, Cancer, TB and other incurable illness that have killed so many people in the country with out proper care or lack of knowledge to care for the patients. Hope Life International charitable organization in collaboration with our partner University of Aachen, Germany, has for the first time conducted palliative care training workshop. The training focuses on physicians, nurses, social workers and all those that have sympathy for terminal ill patients in the country. The aim of this training was to create awareness and to equip the health professionals in the country for effective health care delivering. The workshop recorded total attendance of 45 participants from all the health care institutions that were invited.

In evaluating the success of training workshop held in 2012 to 2013 and the demand from participants for another training workshop from our partner University of Aachen, another workshop was held in March 2014. This time we recorded total attendance of 70 participants from almost all the health care institutions in the country. After the workshop the feedback from the participants were overwhelming and encouraged that they have acquire knowledge to provide better services to their Unit, departments and the communities.

The training was sponsored by Department of Medicine, University of Aachen, Germany.

Malaria is a preventable and curable disease that nonetheless continues to kill many people each year. Over 90% of those deaths occur in Africa, with Gambia as one of the top list. The disease results in enormous economic losses as well, crippling developing nations and stunting growth. Rural and poor populations carry the overwhelming burden of malaria because access to effective treatment is extremely limited. In our visiting to schools our home care team took time to sensitize students on the danger of malaria and HIV/AIDS diseases and way to prevent it.

The Project was sponsored by share Institute implemented through Hope Life International (HLI) and targets schools. The program provides educational workshops, community awareness campaigns, distribution of insecticide-treated bed nets, free malaria testing and medication.

EDUCATION
